

Daniel Ramos graduated in 2012. After graduation he immediately jumped into freelance photography and videography for local music artists and businesses thanks to the knowledge and skills he acquired in VPA. He currently works for Bruno Mars as his personal photographer and videographer.

Daniel states, "I have the best memories from my time at SHS. Basketball was always the highlight of my time at school, all the coaches had a major impact on my life decisions post high school. VPA was a cornerstone in my high school experience and immensely contributed to my success after Sunnyside. The skills I learned there paved the way for much of my success over the years."

He offers this advice for current Wildcats, "You may not realize it now but certain things your teachers say or do will stick with you forever. Appreciate every moment you have because once it's done, it's done. Take advantage of every opportunity big or small and watch success become a constant river that flows through your life's journey. Be grateful for the small things in life and everything else will come together as it should. And it's true what they say, Once a wildcat, always a wildcat."
